

AAA OFFICIALS READY TO START RELIEF PROGRAM

President Probably Will Sign Bill
Tomorrow

Washington, Feb. 29.—(P)—AAA officials said today they were ready for instant action to launch the new farm relief program when President Roosevelt signs the soil conservation-subsidy measure into law—probably Monday.

Secretary Wallace made a routine official examination of the engrossed printing of the bill this morning. Other officials said they expected it to be signed within 48 hours.

The first action of the AAA is expected to be a formal announcement calling regional meetings of farmers at Memphis, Chicago, New York City and Salt Lake City to discuss details of the $500,000,000 program to retire crop land for soil conservation.

The Memphis and Chicago meetings have been scheduled tentatively to begin next Thursday and continue three days, with the others the next week.

Officials said agreement has been reached on many of the major details, but added that the first official disclosure of how the program will operate will be made to farmers themselves at the regional meetings.

One conclusion appeared certain, that the new program will provide subsidies for a considerably greater number of individuals than did the AAA, but that the average amount of payments will be somewhat smaller.

Among the topics to be presented to the farmers at the regional meetings will be the amounts and methods of payment, specific conditions farmers must meet to become eligible for payments, and the organization of producer committees which are to conduct the program in the field.

Man Wounded By Bandit Is Dead

Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 29.—(P)—Oren M. Dokken, 27, of Kohler, Wis., died tonight of bullet wounds received earlier in the day during the attempted holdup of a poker party.

Raymond Fortune, 26, of Marion, held on a charge of armed banditry, the police said, will be charged with homicide.

Kokken was playing cards with five others at the home of Charles J. Eiler when a masked man, later identified as Fortune, entered the room and ordered the players to hand over their wallets. Dokken tried to kick the gun from the intruder's hand. The latter opened fire and Dokken was shot three times.

Fortune was overtaken in a chase that followed.

Stepping on an air pocket, he drowned despite attempts of Vernon Hicks, 12, to rescue him with a belt.

Alleged Leader of Tokyo's 4-Day Revolt, Teruzo Ando, Shoots Self In Head, Dies

By Glenn Babb
Copyright, 1936, The Associated Press

Tokyo, March 1.—(Sunday)—(P)—The alleged leader of Tokyo's abortive four-day revolt, Capt. Teruzo Ando, shot himself in the head Saturday and died.

He was said to have followed the suggestion of martial law authorities that suicide was the only way for him to keep his honor because of his leadership of the mutiny of army officers and troops.

Premier Keisuke Okada, whom the insurgents apparently believed they had assassinated in their attempted coup Wednesday, took the helm of government again, although in authoritative quarters the opinion was expressed he soon would be relieved of his post.

Okada, the government announced, had escaped with his life when the rebels mistakenly killed his brother-in-law, Col. Denzo Matsuo, for 3 1-2 days it had been generally thought the premier was dead, but the body which lay for many hours in the snow outside his official residence and which later was buried was that of his aide, the government said.

Although official secrecy was maintained as to the premier's whereabouts during the revolt, persons who saw him after his re-appearance expressed belief he hid in the servants' quarters at his official residence Wednesday and then went to his private home on Thursday.

One rebel in addition to Ando was reported to have attempted suicide. He was Capt. Shiro Nonaka, first assistant to the leader, but it was not known definitely whether he died. The other 20 officers involved in the outbreak were stated in reliable circles to be held at a military prison on the edge of Tokyo.

Soldiers maintained peace in the government office district from which the revolt had departed.

Receding Rivers Relieve Threats Of Flood Damage

Certain Sections Of Illinois
River Still Menaced
By Flood Waters

Chicago, Feb. 29.—(P)—Receding rivers relieved threats of serious flood damage in Illinois today.

While flood waters in certain sections of the Illinois river still menaced fertile farm lands, residents did not appear to be in immediate danger.

Cracking of ice gorges eased flood threats in other sections of the country.

At Beardstown, Ill., residents along the Illinois river felt safe behind a "sea wall" 3,000 feet long. The dike stands more than 10 feet above the level of the swollen stream. Mayor Fred I. Cline said "there is nothing now to indicate the inevitable spring flood will endanger the town."

At Springfield, Ill., the Sangamon river stage was 94, more than 7 feet above normal. Wooded lowlands were under water in the Sangamon watershed.

The Wabash river at Mount Carmel, Ill., was one foot below flood stage. At Shawneetown the Ohio river was three feet below the flood mark, and rising slowly.

G. Kennedy, official government river observer at Chester, Ill., said that if the ice-filled Missouri, Illinois and smaller river in the Mississippi watershed are broken by warm rains, the Mississippi river would likely be one of its wildest rampages. Swollen tributaries from the Ohio river southward would contribute to the severity of the flood, he said.

Otto Studer, 58, summer colony caretaker, who was rescued yesterday after crawling over ice hammocks in the Kankakee river, 10 miles southwest of Joliet where he had been marooned for three days, had apparently recovered from his experience, and was in Joliet.

Ethiopians And Italians Battle On North Front

Report Claims Selassie's Men Were Taken By Surprise

By Charles H. Gupitll
Associated Press Foreign Staff

Rome, Feb. 29.—(P)—While Fascist armies occupied Amba Alaji, erasing the sting of a bitter defeat of 40 years ago, Italian soldiers and Ethiopian warriors of Ras Kassa clashed today in the Tembien section of the northern front.

Reports of the battle came to Rome from Marshal Pietro Badoglio, head of the Italian army. His communiqué read:

"While troops of the first army corps reached Amba Alaji, troops of the third army corps and those of the Eritrean army corps attacked from the north and south the forces of Ras Kassa.

"From dawn yesterday, Feb. 28, a big battle is raging."

Amba Alaji fell before the invading forces with virtually no defense, according to Italian reports. The retreating Ethiopian soldiers were taken by surprise in a stronghold they had considered invincible.

"(Ethiopian officials said they knew nothing of the fall of Amba Alaji as reported by the Italians. An official communiqué in Addis Ababa was confined to announcement that a revolt in northwestern Gofjam province had been suppressed.)"

Kidnap - Murder Was Not One Man Job He Declares

By Samuel G. Blackman
Associated Press Staff Writer

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 29.—(P)—Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf's report that persons represent themselves as agents of Governor Harold G. Hoffman, had approached state troopers with "promises and threats" drew a sharp denials of such knowledge from the governor today.

The governor caustically described the Lindbergh kidnap investigation as the "most bungled case in police history."

"My opinion, which is shared by thousands of people," the governor wrote to Schwarzkopf, "is that the Lindbergh kidnaping, murder and extortion of $50,000 was not a 'one man job'."

In ordering the case reopened a month ago, Hoffman sent to Schwarzkopf a long brief, setting forth what he called "incontrovertible proof" that more than one person was involved in the crime. He instructed Schwarzkopf to make weekly reports.

If Schwarzkopf feels now, the governor wrote today, that the case was solved with the arrest and conviction of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, under sentence to die the week of March 30, it is his duty to so advise the governor, and to answer "the questions I submitted in my letter of January 26."

To Schwarzkopf's allegation of meddling the governor replied: "x x x your letter reveals that you have learned of an incident that occurred a month ago when your 'finger print expert,' Frank Kelly, was contacted by a representative of mine. This was done at my direction—although I have no knowledge of 'threats or promises'—for the purpose of securing certain information that I believed to be important and involving an activity of which I am quite sure Kelly had not advised you."

"At what I consider to be the proper time I will lay the facts before you. Your letter refers to 'members of your organization' who have been approached. If you have knowledge of any contact other than the one above referred to please give me the details immediately."

Schwarzkopf's term expires in June, and reports have long been current that the governor will not reappoint him.

Neutrality Bill Signed By F. D. R. Applied Quickly

Issues New Proclamation Making Arms Embargo Effective

By Frank L. Weller
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Feb. 29.—(P)—A new appeal to Americans to refrain from excessive trading with belligerent nations was issued today by President Roosevelt, coincident with his signing of the amended neutrality resolution and his immediate application of it to Italy and Ethiopia.

Hailing the addition of a ban against loans to warring nations as "a new and definite step" toward American peace, despite conflicts abroad, the president added this statement:

"On October 5, 1935, I issued a proclamation which made effective the (arms) embargo (of the earlier law) with respect to exports to Italy and Ethiopia, and I have now issued a new proclamation in order to meet the requirements of the new enactment."

The measure he signed into law extends the neutrality act of 1935 from today until May 1, 1937. It contains authority to embargo arms and ammunition to belligerents, with the addition of a prohibition against loans or credits to such countries. It forbids also either the purchase or sale of any obligations of a government against which an arms embargo has been declared.

In general, the law would not apply in the case of any Latin or South American Republic engaged in war with a non-American power.

Had the chief executive not signed the legislation today, the United States would have been without power to embargo munitions shipments, as the earlier law provided this authority only up to midnight tonight.

The train was demolished.

He underwent an operation for a gall bladder ailment last Thursday and later peritonitis developed. Kelly was born in Ireland and came to Chicago with his parents when a child. He was engaged in the undertaking business in suburban Cicero.

BATTLE BREWS IN CONGRESS OVER TAX PLAN

Undistributed Profits
Of Corporations May Be Taxed

Washington, Feb. 29.—(P)—Increasing talk of a tax on undistributed corporate profits was heard today above the clamor of a growing congressional dispute over President Roosevelt's billion-dollar revenue estimates.

Adding his voice to those of administration leaders in the Senate, Speaker Byrns endorsed such a profit levy as "just and equitable." He reported that many members of the house ways and means committee, which will draft the tax bill, were in agreement with him.

Meanwhile, Senator Byrd (D-Va.), a critic of some of the New Deal's spending, expressed approval of the tax program but called for a constitutional amendment to make federal, state and municipal bonds subject to taxation.

"Any real reform of the tax system must be based upon taxation of tax-exempt securities," he said. "Without such taxation those best able to pay will escape."

Despite some hints of opposition to a program of such size in a campaign year, Secretary Morgenthau expressed confidence in the outlook when asked what would be done if the full program is not enacted.

"There is no if about it," he replied. "We'll get it."

Aside from the tax on undistributed corporate profits, no one method of applying the new taxes apparently had official or semi-official approval.

Beverly Hills Hotel Looted By 2 Armed Bandits

Screen Actor Stands By As Robbers Obtain $1,300
From Auditor

Beverly Hills, Calif., Feb. 29.—(P)—Two men who robbed the fashionable Beverly Hills hotel today menaced Gilbert Roland, handsome screen actor, with pistols.

"They did not harm nor rob Roland, however. He was in the lobby when the men entered and was forced to stand by with other guests while the robbers forced the hotel auditor to give them $1,300 from a cash register."

Miss Louise Rhoades, hotel switchboard operator, just had plugged out a call of Roland's and the actor stood talking to her for a moment. At that time, the hotel auditor came to her from his office and said quickly:

"Call the police—they're holding up the hotel!"

She put through the call to police. One of the robbers walked through a door and told her to take off the phone headset.

Miss Rhoades was slow in complying. The man grabbed roughly, pulling her hair as he tore away the headset. Roland made a move to come to her aid but the bandit waved him away with a pistol, the phone operator said.

Mrs. Harold McKee Stops "Yawning"

Morrison, Ill., Feb. 29.—Mrs. Harold McKee stopped yawning today, the sixth day of her third yawning spell. Dr. H. L. Pettit said she was not fully recovered from the siege as she continues to gag.

When she started yawning Sunday night, her condition was aggravated by spasmodic vomiting which weakened her. Both the yawning and the vomiting have subsided, according to Dr. Pettit, who said gagging is a new ailment to be overcome.

Dr. Pettit said he believes, however, that the gagging will stop soon and she will be definitely on her way to recovery.

In the last two years, Mrs. McKee has had two previous yawning attacks. One lasted nine days and the other 11.

CHICAGO REGISTRATION FILES WILL BE CLEANED

Chicago, Feb. 29.—(P)—Thomas J. O'Grady, former state representative and ally of Governor Henry Horner, announced today a campaign by state officers to "purge the Chicago registration list of floaters."

O'Grady said state lodging house inspectors, health inspectors and highway police were to be thrown into Chicago in March to clean up the registration files in preparation for the primary election April 14.

The move was one of the strongest made by the governor to insure an "best vote here since the Cook county" Chicago Democratic organization refused to support him for renomination.

"There are at least 150,000 fraudulent registrations in Chicago, I believe," O'Grady said. "Governor Horner has said he wants an honest election and an honest count of the votes for both sides. We're going to try and get just that."

Report Decrease In "Serious" Crimes

Washington, Feb. 29.—(P)—The Justice Department reported today "a decrease of serious crimes during the past three years."

Murders, assault, auto thefts and robberies all declined, according to statistics compiled by the Bureau of Investigation from reports of 74 big-city police departments.

Eight Republicans In Race For Governorship; Provine Only Aspirant to Withdraw

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 29.—(P)—Walton M. Provine of Taylorville was the only Republican to drop out of the crowded gubernatorial field as the deadline for withdrawals for the April 14 primary passed late this afternoon.

Eight Republicans were left in the race for the governorship as other aspirants refused to withdraw after the failure of a "harmony" conference.

Oscar Nelson of Geneva also quit the G. O. P. contest for the senatorial nomination. Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes' office closed its books on withdrawals at 5 p. m., leaving a big field of major and minor candidates for state and district nominations and party offices.

The Republicans staying in the campaign for governor are Oscar E. Carlstrom of Aledo, former attorney general; C. Wayland Brooks of Chicago; Len Small of Kankakee, former governor; J. Paul Kuhn of Batavia, former commerce commissioner; John Oglesby of Elkhart, former lieutenant governor; George W. Dowell of Duquoin; H. Wallace Caldwell of Oak Park and Senator Thomas P. Gunning of Princeton.

Several efforts were made during recent weeks to get all but Small, Brooks and Caldwell to join in a "harmony" movement, but the only man who did not stay in the contest was Provine, former U. S. district attorney here.

Rep. Frank A. McCarthy of Elgin withdrew his three petitions for election committee and the House of Representatives general, state representatives. Others who withdrew late in the day included:

Louis Goldberg and Clarence Gorski, Chicago, from the Democratic auditorship, leaving Auditor Edward J. Barrett in a field of four.

State Committeeman John F. Tyrrell of Chicago as an aspirant for the Republican lieutenant governorship. Tyrrell has announced support of T. V. Sullivan, Chicago. Jerry C. Ryan of Chicago for Democratic treasurer.

ENGLISH SPARROW IS CHARGED WITH ARSON

Ocala, Fla., Feb. 29.—(P)—An English sparrow menaced the First Methodist church building with fire today, when it picked up a lighted cigarette and flew with it from the street to its tinder-like nest in the eaves of the church.

Fire Chief Tom Sexton and his men said they found sufficient evidence to charge the bird with arson. But he flew away when the alarm sounded and hasn't returned to survey the damage.

Should he come home he would find his nest in ashes and a big hole in the metal roof where firemen chopped their way into extinguish the blaze.

Marvon C. Hewitt Is Recovering At "Medical Center"

Authorities Claim Woman Attempted to Commit Suicide

Jersey City, N. J., Feb. 29.—(P)—Mrs. Marvon Cooper Hewitt was recovering in Medical Center tonight from what police said was a suicide attempt while authorities waited to serve a warrant in connection with charges she conspired with two physicians to have her daughter sterilized.

With local police holding a mayhem warrant issued in San Francisco and added charges of being a fugitive from justice and attempting suicide against her, Mrs. Hewitt, mother of 21-year-old Ann Cooper Hewitt, was a virtual prisoner in the barred and locked psychopathic ward of the hospital.

Hearing on the charge of attempted suicide was continued until March 6 by court clerk William J. Timney in first criminal court today. On that date, if she is able to appear, Mrs. Hewitt will be informed that a detainer charging her with being a fugitive from justice has been filed against her by New York police.

Hospital authorities described her condition tonight as "fair." They said she would be a patient for at least a week.

Police said they found the wealthy woman in the hospital under the name of "Mrs. Jane Merritt" of Boston as the result of an anonymous telephone call. She had been taken there on Feb. 21, they said, after a physician found her unconscious in a hotel room, allegedly overcome by an overdose of sedative.

San Francisco police were notified Mrs. Hewitt would be held here for them, but her counsel, William V. Breslin, Englewood, indicated extradition to California would be fought.

ISSUES CHALLENGE
Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 29.—(P)—Floyd B. Olson, Farmer-Labor governor of Minnesota, challenged Federal Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye today to cast off his judicial robes and "become the Republican candidate for office—any office."

"I will be glad then to discuss his judicial record and fitness for office with the people of Minnesota," Governor Olson said.

His challenge was in answer to Judge Nordbye's recent Minneapolis address in which he charged Minnesota officials permitted "mobs to violate the law with impunity."

HOLD SUSPECT
Salem, Ill., Feb. 29.—(P)—William C. Harding, who escaped from the Yerington, Nev., jail two weeks ago, is held in the Marion county jail here today pending arrival of Nevada authorities. Sheriff Bryan Pitts, reported.

The sheriff said Harding who is charged with throwing acid on a young girl's face, was captured at Luka near here at 3:30 p. m. yesterday.

State Safety Measures

The road-building program in Illinois for 1936 calls for expenditure of $37,670,000. The extension of the hard road system and the mileage of bituminous and gravel roads will mean much to the state; but there are some safety items in the list of projects that will certainly return more than the amount they will cost the state.

The program calls for elimination of 88 grade crossings by the separation of the railroad and highway grades. No doubt many lives will be saved
through this program. Every grade crossing, if not already a spot where death crosses could be erected, is a scene of potential tragedy. Collisions between cars and trains usually bring death to those in the cars.

Three highway grades are also to be separated, which will mean greater safety for through traffic on the routes affected. The program also includes erection of automatic flashlight signals at 274 railroad-highway crossings, and the placing of reflector warning signs
at 414 other such crossings in the state.

These signals should warn motorists to stop at all railroad intersections. The state will do its share to provide ample warning of the presence of tracks ahead. It is then up to the motorist to heed those signs and come to a full stop and look both ways before proceeding across the tracks.
Otherwise he will have only himself to blame if he meets trouble and tragedy.

Money spent in throwing more safeguards around motor traffic will bring ample returns; but it will be wasted if the drivers themselves do not use proper caution to avoid accidents. If the taxpayers of Illinois are willing to do their part, surely the people who use Illinois highways
should lend full co-operation.

New Taxes a Billion

The President has asked Congress for new taxes aggregating nearly a billion dollars. Politicians on Capitol Hill say he won't get that much—not because the money is not needed to keep down further deficits, but because this is a campaign year, and the men in office fear the ballots of the people. They are not trying to shave taxes to protect the incomes and purchasing power of the American citizen,
but merely to prevent public wrath
from descending on their own heads.

The citizen who thinks he is getting a break because this is a campaign year is merely kidding himself. Sooner or later the taxes to meet the huge spending program of the New Deal
and to liquidate the staggering national debt must be levied, and they will be levied when the politicians no longer fear for their jobs. Either that debt will be paid or this nation will go into bankruptcy.

The billion dollars in new taxes
asked by the President would not reduce the debt a penny. That money would be used to pay off obligations incurred by the present Congress and to replace processing taxes knocked out by the Supreme Court. The billion does not include new funds for relief, which, when appropriated as they must be, will add to the deficit.

Someone has asked the question: If all the money in circulation in the United States could be scooped up and used in a lump, would it liquidate the nation's public debt? It would not.
Money in circulation at the beginning of February totaled $5,737,352,474. That amount would have to be gathered up and paid in six times before it would pay the national debt, to say nothing of the state and local bonded indebtedness.

The Illinois Tax Commission estimated the 1935 value of all real and personal property in this state at $11-$20,000,000. Ours is a wealthy state, yet every parcel, brick and stick of property in this state would have to go under the hammer at least three times
before enough could be realized to pay the national debt.

Did the American people ask for such a burden? Do they realize even now that they will have to carry it,
and that their children will groan
under its weight? What will they do when they feel the full crushing force of the taxes they must pay? The American people did not ask for this burden, and they do not yet realize its awfulness. As for the last question, the answer may hold the fate of the nation.

A Big Job Ahead

The McCormack amendment to the new farm subsidy bill provides that food supplies must not fall below the average domestic consumption of food for the ten-year period from 1920 to 1929. For that period the average annual per capita consumption of food was 1,450 pounds.

Placing the nation's population at 125,000,000, which is a low estimate for the present time, this would mean that farmers must produce the enormous total of 80,525,000 tons of food per year. That amount would merely provide for the average consumption,
which was 1,454 pounds per capita during the worst depression years, 1930-33.

That estimate does not allow for an increase in food purchasing power, which might easily increase the per capita consumption and the consequent consumer demand for food.
When we say that the soil of the United States must produce ninety and a half million tons of food per year to feed the nation, we are putting it mildly.

Thus the farmers have a big job ahead. Some bumper crops will be in order, and there will probably be little surplus to drag down prices. Even in prosperous times a large mass of the city population could not afford an adequate diet. If these people should acquire the income sufficient to buy the food they need, it is doubtful whether the present agricultural resources of the nation could meet the demand.

endeavor, but Syracuse University is going to follow others with a course of lectures on marriage. Students demanded it.

There will be studies of health factors in marriage, the art of homemaking, the religious side of matrimony, and the emotional aspects of wedded life.

The aim is to lay some groundwork for what the college considers, after all, "the most important career for both men and women."

For no "profession" today claims
more millions with less preparation than does marriage.

It has taken the world a long time
to learn that perhaps there is a bit of science in matrimony as by other endeavors. And a few pointers in advance may clear up many a difficulty.

Incidentally, perhaps the Syracuse
course ought to be offered by mail
as well. Even the married couple could freshen their outlook a bit.

Fearless Education

Doubtless the best news the country has had from the educators' world
for a long time was that report prepared in St. Louis by a group of leading teachers who urged that schools deal "boldly and firmly" with all controversial problems.

"Perhaps the greatest threat to education in the world today," agreed the educators in their study, "is establishment of narrow political control over the schools and severe regimen-tation of the minds of a whole generation of children."

Wisely the teachers concluded that the great need today is for a school program that drives straight ahead
toward sane analysis of the problems of the hour.

No greater responsibility faces our schools today than to awaken and keep alive a straight-thinking philosophy for the future. Upon such fearless education depends the strength of our democracy through the years.

WESLEY CHAPEL AID SOCIETY, WORTHWHILE S. S. CLASS HOLD MEET

Point.—Due to winter road and weather conditions the meetings of the Wesley Chapel Aid Society and Worth While Sunday School Class
were held jointly with an all day pot luck dinner and sewing for the normal baby fold and Passavant hospital.

The valuation of donation of articles for the annual donation to baby fold was approximately: Bedding $28.10, miscellaneous articles $14.95, total $43.05. Passavant hospital work consisted of bandages
folded and marking articles, etc.
There was a good attendance of members and 11 guests were present.
The society voted to hold a market
March 18 at Ziegler Garage.

News Notes

It being the custom of Wesley Chapel Aid Society to honor a newly wedded member of family of their society, approximately 50 people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Shumaker with a miscellaneous shower of very useful articles for Mr. and Mrs. John Shumaker which are very much appreciated by the bride and groom. Refreshments of pop corn and candy were brought by the guests. The condition of dirt roads kept quite a few families from being present. This is the fourth shower
the society has given since June 8, 1935, (both parties) of all four couples being members of the Ever Ready Sunday School Class of Wesley Chapel.

Jerseyville.—Mrs. Mary Gimmy of Jerseyville is recovering from what has been diagnosed as tularemia or
"rabbit fever."

The infection first appeared in one of Mrs. Gimmy's fingers after contact with a corn cob in a feed lot where chickens and rabbits are said to have eaten together. The attending physi-treated in Jersey county last year.

Only 18 Marriages

According to the records in the office of County Clerk Frank Seago, the girls of Jersey county are not taking advantage of the prerogatives of Leap Year.

Between the first day of the New Year and February 28th, only 18 marriage licenses were issued in Jersey county. Although 1935 was not a Leap Year, twenty-seven licenses were granted during the first two months of that year locally.

Strengthen Levees

Clifton Schudel, supervisor of Rich-
wood Township, was a Jerseyville visitor Friday afternoon and reported all was well in the Drainage District which had been threatened by the breaking up of the ice in the Illinois river.

Schudel reported that one hundred men from the CCC camp at Eldred
are employed at present clearing away brush from the levee area and strengthening any weakened spots in the structure occasioned by the digging in of groundhogs and other rodents.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

Consumer Gets Measure of Protection in Amendment to Farm Plan . . . Scarcity Advocates Are Overridden
in Congress . . . Pair of City Legislators Lead Battle for Sufficient Food.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
(Journal-Courier Washington Correspondent)

Washington—Congress and the administration have repudiated the theory that scarcity of food is essential or desirable in a program to provide fair incomes for farmers.

That's the important meaning of the so-called "consumer protection"
amendment to the new farm relief conservation legislation.

Best available studies have shown that even in prosperous 1929 about 75 per cent of city families couldn't afford a diet adequate for health and that national consumption of food was about 40 per cent below the amount which would be required for a universal "moderate" diet.

The "consumer amendment" will not improve that state of affairs. But it guarantees that the farm administration, in the reduction of crop
surpluses incident to its new soil program, will not reduce food supplies
below the normal level of consumption. The original legislation carried no standards for such guarantee.

City Members Lead Fight

Two urban members of Congress,
Senator Robert Wagner of New York
and Representative John W. McCormack of Boston, led the fight for the amendment. Wagner introduced one into the Senate which was defeated by a 2 to 1 vote and it was evident that many senators didn't know what it was all about.

The McCormack amendment subsequently received endorsement of the administration and of Chairman Marvin Jones of the House Agriculture Committee. It passed. House and Senate conferees on the bill subsequently agreed to retain it.

That McCormack amendment says that the wide powers granted to the secretary of agriculture "shall not be used to discourage the production of supplies of foods and fibers sufficient to maintain normal domestic consumption as determined by the secretary from the records of domestic human consumption in the years 1920
to 1929, inclusive, taking into consideration increased population, quantities of any commodity that were forced into domestic consumption by decline in exports during such period, current trends in domestic consumption and exports of particular commodities, and the quantities of substitutes available for domestic consumption, within any general class of food commodities."

Food Figures Vary Little
Average food consumption per capita for the 10-year period mentioned was about 1,450 pounds. This figure hasn't varied greatly. It was 1,422 pounds for the 1920-24 period, 1,474
pounds for 1925-29, and 1,454 for 1930-33.

The principle established by the amendment is no new one, but until now it has appeared that the leaders of farm organizations—including some who might be perfectly willing to create artificial and unprecedented scarcities to boost prices high—would be able to block attempts to enact it into legislation.

Dr. Calvin B. Hoover, as consumers' counsel for AAA, first espoused the principle and the fight for it was
Montgomery.

Secretary Wallace himself came out for it last year and an attempt was made to get it into last session's AAA amendments—unsuccessfully, thanks to farm leaders.

can Farm Bureau Federation attacked

Laid to Rest

JOSEPH J. CROUCH

Private funeral services for Joseph
J. Crouch, ninety year old Jacksonville citizen, were held Saturday afternoon at the home on Finley street.
The funeral ritual of the Methodist church was read by Rev. McKendree

lowed.

of the Senate vote and farm-state
senators supported him almost unanimously.

But the administration's desire for consumer protection was reinforced by growing realization that successive defeats of the Wagner and Mc-Cormack amendments might be bad political medicine and could be used as effective Republican propaganda
in cities.

Thanks to AAA and the drought, retail food prices have advanced 25 per cent since 1933 and although farmers are better off, many city consumers have felt the pinch and reacted bitterly.

The McCormack amendment also contains a provision reminiscent of the old AAA parity price goal which was inserted to square things with the farmers.

This directs the secretary, as rapidly as he deems practicable and in the public interest, to reestablish at the 1910-14 level the ratio between the purchasing power of the average income per person on farms to the purchasing power of the average income per person in the non-farm population.

Centenary Men to Stage Member Drive

Contest Planned at Meeting
Friday Night; Class Will Work in Two Teams

An enthusiastic business meeting of the Loyal Men's Bible class was held Friday evening in the social rooms of Centenary M. E. church. A lunch of sandwiches and coffee was served.
Arthur Ellis was in charge of the program.

Previous to the business session, the 27 members of the class present were favored with a reading by Miss Kar Spelletich of MacMurray college which was greatly appreciated. President C. W. Boston was in charge of the meeting.

Plans were made for a competitive
drive for members between two teams formed by members of the class. The contest will close Easter Sunday, and will be followed by a class banquet and rally. The president appointed Ernest Hoagland and Olin Gotschall
as captains of the respective teams.
All members present were heartily in favor of the contest.

The teacher, C. S. Smith, talked of the drive for new members of the class and emphasized the need of including men to attend Sunday school.
He urged the team members to seek new material and suggested that 600 men could be enrolled if the work was pushed enthusiastically.

day from Alexander.

Former Jerseyville Man Dies in East

Louis Cassavant Expires in Brooklyn, N.Y.; G.O.P. Committeeman Ill

Jerseyville, Ill.—Word has been received in Jerseyville of the death of Louis Cassavant, a former resident of this city, which occurred last Saturday at a hospital in Brooklyn, New York. Mr. Cassavant had been in ill health for several months.

The deceased for many years made his home in Jerseyville. He was a nephew of Mrs. Nellie Porter who left here two weeks ago to make her home in Evanston.

Mr. Cassavant was a singer of note and years ago gained much prominence in music circles. For a time he sang with the famous "Bostonians". Two years ago he was a member of one of the casts appearing at the Municipal Opera in St. Louis and about five years ago sang in "My Maryland" at the American theatre in St. Louis.

Funeral services were held Monday in St. Albans, Long Island where the Cassavant family now resides.

R. B. Tweedy III, Republican candidate for committeeman in the Second Jersey Precinct, is critically ill in the Jerseyville hospital where he was taken for treatment Wednesday.

Since Monday, Mr. Tweedy has suffered two serious hemorrhages caused by ulcers of the stomach.

Tweedy is at present precinct committeeman and he is the second member of the Republican central committee to suffer serious illnesses within the past few weeks. W. B. May, the chairman of that body was badly hurt when he was struck by an automobile on February 11th, the eve before he was to preside at the Lincoln Day banquet sponsored by the Republican Central Committee here. May has been removed from the hospital to his home and is recovering from the accident.

Legislative Voters League Gives Hugh Green Fine Notice

"Remarkably Fine Record: Valuable Asset," Says
League Bulletin

State Representative Hugh Green of Jacksonville, a candidate for reelection, is given an excellent notice by the Legislative Voters League, a non-partisan organization, in a current issue of The Assembly Bulletin. The league also reports favorably on the work of Representative Warren Brockhouse of this city. Mr. Brockhouse not being a candidate for another term.

"The 1935 regular session of the 59th general assembly was one of the most hectic and strenuous in the history of Illinois," reads the league's biennial report. "From start to finish it was characterized by continual party warfare and by bitter partisan feeling, violently expressed."

The following paragraph will be of especial interest to people of Morgan and Sangamon counties:

"45th District—Warren E. Brockhouse (Dem. Concord). Work fairly creditable. Hugh Green (Rep. Jacksonville). Remarkably fine record; valuable asset. William J. Lawler (Rep. Springfield). Served three terms without showing much legislative capacity."

The findings of the Legislative Voters League on outgoing members of the House of Representatives are based on their records on a number of important bills, on their attendance and diligence, on their floor ability, their value in committee sessions, and other standards used for many years.

It costs us more to build a car like this

FORD QUALITY goes far below the surface. It is built into every part of the car—in those things you see and those that are hidden. We say it with assurance—because it has been the experience of so many millions of drivers—that many months after your first ride you will still be saying—"I'm glad I bought a Ford."

The Ford Motor Company is not content with ordinary specifications for materials. Its own standards of quality for many important parts are considerably higher than usually accepted standards.

Ford valves are an example of this extra value. They are made of a nickel-chrome alloy-steel that contains 13% chromium, 13% nickel and 2% silicon. This unusually high alloy content increases resistance to heat—insures more efficient, economical performance and longer life.

Intake valves, as well as exhaust valves, are made of this more expensive steel in the Ford V-8. It is one of several good reasons why the Ford engine is singularly free of valve troubles.

It costs us more to build a car like this—yet the price of the Ford V-8 remains low. Ford manufacturing methods save many dollars for Ford owners—and bring fine-car quality within the reach of every one who drives.

It Takes 25 Operations to Finish One Ford Valve—Each Ford V-8 valve stem is ground five times for greater accuracy and smoothness. Amplifying gages check the stem for roundness within two thousandths of an inch. Similar gages check diameter. Measurements are made in specially built rooms with temperature-control. The exhaust valve seats are shrunk in liquid oxygen before they are pressed into the block.

William R. Hills and Wife Will Observe 50th Anniversary

Morgan County Couple Will Entertain Friends and Relatives Monday

Golden wedding bells will ring Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Hills, prominent residents of the Franklin community. On that day Mr. and Mrs. Hills will celebrate fifty years of married life by entertaining a group of guests who were present at the wedding a half century ago, and relatives and friends of the community also will join in the observance.

An anniversary dinner will be served at noon Monday, followed in the afternoon by open house from 2 to 4 o'clock. Friends are cordially invited to call during these hours.

Fifty years ago Monday, on March 2, 1886, William R. Hills and Mary Thursty were married at the home of the bride's parents, Charles and Anna Thursty, in a farm house near Lynnville, both being of respectable English parentage, members of families which have borne an honorable name in Morgan county since those who came across the Atlantic to make their homes in America decided to cast their fortunes here in Illinois.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Squire George Ransom, now dead, but whose wife, one of the wedding guests, still lives in Jacksonville.

Others present at the wedding who are still living are Mrs. Anna Thursty, of Maxwell, Iowa; John Thursty, of Donna, Texas; Henry Thursty and Mrs. John Hall, Palmers; Mrs. John Vasey, Jacksonville; George Smith, Manchester, father of Mrs. J. Earl Miles and now visiting his daughter in Franklin; Mrs. Anna Ransom, Mrs. John Oxley, Miss Edith Thursty and J. L. Hills, brother of the groom.

Mr. Hills is now 75 years old and his wife is 73. All of their fifty years of married life have been spent on farms near Franklin. Fifty years ago this spring Mr. Hills rented the Lewis Massie farm at the edge of Franklin from H. G. Keplinger, then guardian for the Massie children, and there he and his bride began housekeeping in a simple way. After eight years, he rented Mr. Keplinger's farm joining the village on the northwest, where he resided for 30 years, and his son, George, born there, now occupies the farm owned by Mr. Keplinger's son.

Six years ago Mr. and Mrs. Hills moved to the farm they now occupy one mile west of Franklin, which he had been able to purchase by reason of practicing frugality and industry for more than two score years. Here they have installed electric conveniences, and in their declining years are enjoying some of the comforts of modern life to which they are richly entitled.

They have two sons living, George and Chester, and two granddaughters, Misses Helen and Pauline Hills, the daughters of their oldest son, Raymond, deceased. Miss Helen, who completed a course at Illinois College, is teaching the Long Point school, and Miss Pauline is a valuable assistant of her mother in the operation of the family farm three miles north of Modesto on State Route 111.

PARADOXICALLY, many people with unquestionable ability to accumulate wealth, exhibit a surprising neglect in disposing of it. That, probably, is why nearly fifty per cent of all estates have no will back of them, in which case the Courts are called upon to distribute the assets strictly according to legal requirements established by a by-gone legislature.

TEMPERATURE CONTROL AND ITS IMPORTANCE IN MAKING OF UNIFORM GOOD BREADS

Peerless Bread Company, Makers of Kleen-Maid Bread, Put Out in the New Blue Wrapper, Explain Necessity for Process

One of the most important processes necessary to produce GOOD BREAD is fermentation, and the equipment and maintenance of this room.

The fermentation room must be maintained at a certain temperature and humidity all during the time required to ferment the dough—80 degrees temperature and 78 degrees humidity.

The Peerless Bread Company operates a humidifier that keeps their dough room at these temperatures, regardless of outside conditions—whether it be zero, or summer heat. This accurate operation gives all dough a constant temperature in which to correctly ferment, a point in bread-making that governs and insures the superior quality and goodness of all KLEEN-MAID BREADS.

Choice flour, plus quality ingredients, combined with controlled air-conditioning, give the Peerless Bread Company the necessary qualifications and ability to bake GOOD BREAD OF UNIFORM QUALITY.

(Next week we shall explain the dividing and moulding of bread.)

Road Conditions in County Make Travel Tough for Farmers

Leave Cars at Homes Located on All Weather Routes, or Stay at Home

Road conditions in Morgan county are such that farm families living on dirt highways are either isolated or forced to go on foot or use horses when they want to get away from home. Many have taken their cars to the homes of neighbors who live on slabs or other improved roads, and are thus able to travel by walking a mile or two to get their cars.

Several cars are being left at the county home by people on surrounding farms. High school students ride horseback to the homes of neighbors where they can take their cars and drive to town. When they return at night, they are met by other members of the family and returned to their homes.

The bottom is practically out of the dirt roads. Continued slight freezing at night and thawing during the day keeps the mud deep and gives no chance for the sun to get in its drying power. The county has indeed returned to the "horse and buggy" days, but few horses are seen in Jacksonville for the reason that the main roads leading into the city are now concrete. The change from horse power to gasoline takes place on farms along the all-weather routes and near the junction of "feeder" dirt roads.

Murrayville R. R. 2

A number of neighbors and friends went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sullivan, Sunday, Feb. 23rd, and spent the day. At noon a bountiful pot luck dinner was enjoyed by those present. Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan are moving this week to the farm which they recently purchased from Harvey Devore, better known as the "Crabtree farm." The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. John Carwell, daughter Ruth from Pleasant Grove neighborhood and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Taylor of Jacksonville; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bingman, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Newby, Mrs. Lillie Bracewell, William Blakeman, John Maloney, Misses Della and Ida Simmons, Mary Blakeman, Lena Maloney, Mary Newby and Beth Bracewell, Francis Maloney, Eugene Bracewell, Leroy Mitchell and Frank Newby.

Mrs. Ed Carmean spent Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. S. A. Passage.

A number of self invited guests spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Morris. Refreshments of sandwiches, pie, and coffee were served. Mr. and Mrs. Morris are moving to a farm northwest of Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lonergan moved Friday to a farm north of Murrayville. Mr. and Mrs. John Carwell of Pleasant Grove neighborhood are moving to the farm vacated by Mr. Lonergan.

Ralph Spencer who has been confined to his home since last Thanksgiving by illness is now able to be out and was a business visitor in Roodhouse one afternoon last week. Sunday Mr. Spencer and family spent the day with relatives in Jacksonville.

Mrs. John Quinn was very pleasantly surprised on her birthday anniversary Tuesday, Feb. 18, when a number of guests invited by her husband and daughter, Miss Sybil, came in and spent the evening. Refreshments of peaches and whipped cream, cake and home made candy were served.

Mesdames Davis and Spink Organize P.T.A. Group in Cass County

An enthusiastic group of parents of the Chandlerville Public school met in the gymnasium at 2:30 o'clock on Friday and organized a Parent-teacher association. They were addressed by Mrs. A. L. Davis, of Jacksonville, district director, who discussed in detail the Parent-teacher movement, from the standpoint of historical background and general information of the state and national association, giving specific information for the local units.

She was assisted by Mrs. Earl Spink, president of the Lafayette Parent-teacher association of this city, who spoke on the subject of membership and dues.

Mr. Mullen, principal of the school, acted as temporary chairman and the following officers were elected: R. E. Bruno, president; Mrs. O. E. Blair, vice-president; Mrs. Vern Chilton, secretary, and Mrs. Dale King, treasurer.

There are now five Illinois Congress units in Cass county and it is quite probable that a sixth will soon join the ranks. The others are: Beardstown, Bluff Springs, Ashland and Arenville.

Major League Club Owners Enter Month of March With Biggest Holdout Headache

By Herbert W. Barker
Associated Press Sports Writer
New York, Feb. 29.—Major league club owners enter the month of March with the biggest holdout headache they have experienced in at least four years.

Where only a handful of athletes remained to be brought to terms at this time a year ago, a recount today revealed approximately 50 unsigned players, including at least 30 in the American League alone. The National League list is smaller but comprises a more noteworthy group of stars.

The total has been reduced by scarcely a dozen within the last fortnight, including the capitulation of terms today of Red Rolfe and Pat Malone of the New York Yankees.

Many of the best known performers still have salary grievances which they seem willing to air publicly and loudly. Aside from the holdout of the Dean brothers, the most serious case to develop this week involves Hank Leiber, slugging outfielder of the New York Giants. Hank's threat to quit if he doesn't win a substantial compromise is not taken seriously by club officials, but it adds a sturdy note to the general overture of dissatisfaction. Even if the magnates go no more than half way with their recalcitrant hired hands it appears likely to cost them an aggregate of $100,000 extra to get all needed signatures on the dotted line.

The holdouts are not yet sufficiently organized in baseball to conduct a training camp of their own, from which united shouts of defiance could be hurled, but they could be a first-class team on any field.

Here are the top-notch "holder-outs":

Pitchers—Paul and Dizzy Dean of the Cardinals, Van Mungo of the Dodgers, Buck Newsum of the Senators and Charley Ruffing of the Yankees.

Catchers—Ernie Lombardi of the Reds and Bill Dickey of the Yankees. First baseman—Zeke Bonura of the White Sox and Hank Greenberg of the Tigers.

Second basemen—Buddy Myer of Senators and Minter Hayes, White Sox.

Shortstop—Harland Clift of the Browns and Pinky Higgins, Athletics.

Outfielders—Paul Waner of the Pirates, Wally Berger of the Boston Bees, Hank Leiber of the Giants, Babe Herman of the Reds, and Ben Chapman of the Yankees.

Getting Set For The Regional Tournament

All the basketball you see is not learned on the playing court, as is demonstrated above. Here's Coach Frank Walker getting his Crimsons ready for the regional tournament which opens here Wednesday night.

The Grimsos are out after a regional and sectional championship to go with their record of 23 victories out of 27 starts this year, and will make their first start against the second place team of the district tournament which closed last night.

New Berlin's flashy Pretzels, smooth, slick and fast, turned back Franklin's last quarter challenge to capture the district tournament championship 29 to 21 on the Illinois School for the Deaf boards Saturday night, after Virginia's Red-Heads played their way into the regional tournament beginning here next Wednesday night by defeating Bluffs 23 to 16.

The games set the stage for the regional, in which the five teams exempted from district tournament play will join the three district survivors in a battle for two places in a sectional tournament. New Berlin, by virtue of its victory, will tangle with Winchester, and Franklin by dropping the championship game, meets Jacksonville High's Crimsons. Virginia, by defeating Bluffs, will meet Murrayville in another game, and I. S. D. and Auburn will play in the fourth game.

New Berlin kept its ultra-fast break working for the three periods, and then collapsed as their shots failed to click. Franklin had two bad quarters, blowing shots right and left all thru the game, but finding it almost impossible to keep their hands on the ball during a hectic third period.

The Pretzels, handling the ball neatly for the first three periods, took a 6-2 lead in the first quarter on two baskets by Lloyd Knepler and Johnny Stapleton's left-handed hit. Franklin came up to trail 6-5 in the second period, but the Pretzels went to work, whipping the ball around the court to race out to a 17 to 7 lead at the end of the half.

Franklin's golden opportunities began appearing in the third quarter, but several times they lost the ball on bad passes, other times for traveling, and a couple times went out of bounds before getting their shots away. New Berlin kept working on its fast break, but the length of the court was beginning to tell, and shots that went in during the first half, kept out of the meshes. The final quarter the New Berlin team scored only two free shots, as Franklin, with Rawlings back in the line-up after being withdrawn with three personal fouls on him, came from behind 27 to 11, to trail only eight points when the firing was over.

Fast and furious, the two teams kept the ball whizzing up and down to court. New Berlin's Stapletons brothers leading the assault, with the husky Knepler brothers to bring up the rear along with Cloyd.

Virginia Overcomes Bluffs
Bluffs continued to surprise the dopesters, its crippled line-up putting up a real battle against the Virginia Red-Heads. Virginia pulled definitely out in front in the third quarter after barely marking up a margin in the first two periods.

Bluffs worked out a lead 3-2 in the first quarter, but all their court smartness and hard work were unable to protect a 7-3 margin they held at one time in the second quarter, as the Red-Heads turned on their steam. Virginia missed the hoop badly during the first two periods, but opened the second half with three straight shots, and then a free throw to lead 15-7. Bluffs scored only two free throws during the period, in which Virginia ran up a 17-9 lead.

Undaunted by the size of the score against them, and with Bishop, their regular center, out of the line-up, the Jays staged a rally in the final quarter, by hitting some of the numerous free throws awarded them on a possession of the 23 fouls assessed against the Red-Heads. Virginia lost three men on personals shortly after the final quarter opened, but the reserves were able to handle the situation.

Roodhouse Defeats Modesto For Title; Greenfield Winner

Girard Only Team To Drop Out For Greenfield Regional Play

Greenfield, Feb. 29.—Roodhouse, Greene county champions, earned all over again part of their claim to the title here tonight when they won the Greenfield district championship by defeating Modesto in the finals of the tournament 31 to 24 after a nip and tuck battle, and Greenfield advanced into the regional tournament opening here next Wednesday night.

By whipping up a four point advantage in another thrilling game with Girard 35 to 31. Three teams, Roodhouse, Modesto and Greenfield, qualified for the regional.

Roodhouse held the upper hand on Modesto most of the way, but was never in a comfortable position until the last four minutes of play. They had only a three point advantage at the end of the third quarter 20-17, but piled up the points in the final period to clinch the decision.

Greenfield worked up one margin of five points over Girard and had it shot away before they tossed in the winning points in the fourth quarter.

Wisconsin University Must Restore Faculty Athletic Control or Quit "Big 10"

Chicago, Feb. 29.—(P)—The western conference faculty committee today gave the University of Wisconsin a choice between restoring athletic control to its faculty, or suffering suspension from the Big Ten.

Declaring that the "evidence at hand establishes more than a reasonable doubt that the University of Wisconsin now has that degree of faculty control of athletics required by the conference," the committee closed an all-day session by ordering the suspension, effective July 1, unless changes are made at Madison meanwhile.

The conference committee, the final word on all questions of Big Ten athletic policies, took a hand in the Wisconsin athletic department tangle, just when it appeared that the problem had been solved. The Wisconsin board of regents stepped in to end a long battle between Athletic Director Walter E. Meanwell and head football coach, Clarence W. Spears, by ordering the dismissal of both men.

The regents action, however, overrode a recommendation by the University athletic board that Meanwell be retained and Spears dismissed. This action was interpreted by the conference committee as a definite violation of a conference rule which reads: "Only institutions having full and complete control of athletics may retain membership in the conference."

The University of Wisconsin was not represented at the meeting, its former faculty representative, Prof. Andrew T. Weaver, having resigned in protest of the regents' action which was taken Feb. 15.

In referring to the action of the regents in firing Meanwell and Spears against the wishes of the Wisconsin athletic board, the committee gave a group opinion that occasional refusals by a governing body to follow an expression of faculty desire in the conduct of athletics does not necessarily mean a departure from conference policy. The Wisconsin case, however, was adjudged a full repudiation of faculty sentiment, requiring conference action.

The committee made it clear that Wisconsin has until July 1, to reorganize its athletic policy to conform to conference requirements, and appointed a sub-committee of three members to work with Badger faculty representatives in attempting to save the institution from suspension.

The sub-committee will consist of Dean George A. Works of the University of Chicago, chairman of the conference committee, Prof. Ralph W. Aigler of the University of Michigan, and Prof. Thomas E. French of Ohio State University.

The suspension order will stand unless the Wisconsin faculty is able to notify the conference committee that it has regained control of the athletic situation between now and July 1.

Spears, ousted football coach, already has signed as athletic director at the University of Toledo. Meanwell has not announced his plans for the future.

When the headlines flare: "Dizdie demands $40,000 or else" or "Duffy to stay down on the farm" it's no longer news here in Bradenton. The ball players don't look up from their fight on tracking.

If the Cardinals know what they're talking about the real reason the Deans are not in camp is that they want to dodge the trip to Cuba, starting Wednesday.

"Dizdie is afraid he'll be sick," said one veteran, "and if Dizdie is afraid of sea sickness, Paul will be too."

Jerome Herman, senior member of the famous brother act, is reported on his way here from Dallas, ostensibly to say hello to the boys and file his income tax report. Nobody believes he'll leave town without going on the line for 1936—and at a figure nearer $20,000 than $40,000.

"The minute Diz does business," this veteran said, "he'll give Paul the nod and Paul will throw down his milk pail and come a-runnin', just see if that ain't what happens."

The Cards paid Dizdie $18,500 last season and offered him a similar contract this spring. That was just a feeler. Sam Breadon and Branch Rickey expect to give him a raise, but they're not about to double his pay.

Dizdie's threat to quit baseball for a year and go into the furniture and radio business where "I can make that $18,500 in darn near a month," gave the Cards their first laugh of the entire series of Dean pop-offs.

"Nerts," said the veteran, "you couldn't keep that guy out of baseball. Why, he'd play for nothing if he wasn't paid for it. It's an act I tell you—just like Ruth's used to be."

Deans Will Sign Veterans Claim Lucille Robinson Beats Patty Berg

By Eddie Brietz
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bradenton, Fla., Feb. 29.—(P)—Those terrific blasts the Messrs. Dean have been firing from Dallas and points west are greeted with grins here in the training camp of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Nobody from Skipper Frank Frisch on down to the club house boy gives them a tumble. You see, they know the Deans. Instead any Cardinal regular will lay odds both brothers will be in there throwing their high hard ones long before the team opens the season against the Chicago Cubs on April 14.

North Central Drops Patched Up Blueboys In Final Game 26-17

Fan Breezes

By Ernest Savage

The history of basketball in Jacksonville is not coming to light. It all started over which team in Jacksonville's history appeared as the greatest in the minds of various fans.

This column's memory stretches back over a mere ten years—and as far as we have been able to learn, this is the 20th year for the sport in this city.

It all depends just now on how you want to look at it. Basketball had humble beginnings locally. It was tried in the old Northminster church, wrecked just a couple years ago, when a group of high school students of 1906 got together and formed a league.

They had been playing some basketball prior to that time in the Y. M. C. A., but it was all hit and miss sport. In 1906, when the Rev. John Phillips, who at that time was a student in Jacksonville high in his junior year, came to this city with his family to make it home here, the man who was later to become one of Boston's leading Congregational ministers, spoke eloquently of the sport of the game.

which he had been playing in Pontiac high school, that local teams began to take an interest in the sport.

According to records at present, The Rev. John Phillips, Everett and Earl Waters (both over six feet tall), Robert Wall, a lad named English, "Skeet" (first name unknown), Hopper, Verne Tremblett, John Widenham, Harry Obermeyer, Macgregor Bancroft, Thomas Miller, and possibly a few more, formed a league.

They arranged for playing space in the old Northminster church and played there for a couple years. Bob Wall yesterday recalled that this was about in 1906, but wasn't positive. Then a couple years later the sport was taken up in high school, with the team playing practice games with Illinois College. Browns Business College, the Y. M. C. A. team, and for outside competition, went up to Mt. Sterling, where basketball had gained a foothold.

After the high school began playing the game, incidentally they didn't have a coach in those days, the sport moved into Strawn's hall, which is the same as the old Army hall, located above Gilbert's Drug store.

Since that time the sport has grown rapidly. Back in the first days, it was not recognized as a sport at Illinois College although a few of the boys played the game. Baseball and football were the major sports then, along with the development of track.

Now the game is played in the grade, high schools and colleges, and some of the boys continue playing after they leave college. It is probably a bit more strenuous on the long pull than football, although football requires more ability to stand rough usage.

W. H. Knapp, White Hall high principal, was in the city yesterday and signed football and basketball contracts with Jacksonville high for next year, and also signed for a basketball game with Illinois School for the Deaf.

If Jacksonville high and White Hall fail to come through their regional tournament, they may meet in a post-season basketball game. That ought to end a lot of arguments regarding the relative strength of the two teams.

Marmion, of Aurora, pulled one of those Grand stunts in the downtown Catholic tournament at Decatur. They won their first game in the consolation round after losing all the rest of their games. Despite their steady string of losses, Coach Howard Bond has a classy bunch of ball players.

Bond will not be in the national Catholic tournament this year, for the first time in several years. He coached the Jasper Academy team to a national championship one year.

Route, despite its failure to score a field goal against Corpus Christi, and its loss to O'Fallon in the consolation round of the tournament, left a favorable impression. Experts and fans liked the way the Rockets handled the ball, their aggressive play, and their refusal to give up the ship. The season, however, will go down as one of the most futile the Rockets have put in on the hardwoods—they won only three out of 19 games.

Although season ticket sale has not been as good this year as it was last, gate admissions have been higher, thereby assuring Father Philip Newman of another financial success.

Albyn Keizer has the best scoring average of the Crimson, but four of the six boys who play most of the J. H. S. games are over a five point per game average. Following is the team scoring statistics:

Player	No.	Games	Ave.
A. Keizer	12	121	10.1
R. Ferguson	9	90	10.0
Bob Hamm	24	201	8.3
H. Lakeman	27	167	6.1

Poses Searching For Accused Negro

Greenville, N. C., Feb. 29.—(AP)—Poses searched throughout this area today for a negro accused of killing Alexander Warren, 18, and assaulting his companion, Helen Phelps, 18, on a country road near here last night.

The girl, daughter of Mrs. Martha E. Phelps of Greenville and a popular amateur entertainer, said Warren was turning his car around in the country lane when the negro yanked the door open, shot her companion without a word, and then dragged her about 100 yards into the woods, where he assaulted her.

She was undergoing treatment today at Pitt General hospital, where Dr. J. L. Winstead said she was suffering from shock, but showed no conclusive evidence of actual assault.

Weather Report For February Shows Extremes

Temperature Falls To Low
Of 12 Below; Moves Up To 71 Degrees Above

The calendar says that another Leap Year February will not click around again for 28 years with the extra day coming on Saturday. And the monthly report of the Norbury Cooperative Weather Bureau shows that Old Man Winter displayed some of his most extraordinary wares to match that coincident.

Valentine's Day and all the patriotic favors of the birthday celebrations of the nation's great men must have produced some moderating effects on the temperature, but it was February 24 before the western chinook winds shoved the mercury up to a high of 71 degrees. Only 72 hours before that date, the low mark was zero.

February spared a "coal conscious" public from the steady bitter cold of January, but on the 5th managed to slide down to twelve below for the record in that direction. The 7th produced the greatest daily range of 35 degrees.

Nearly all of the month's precipitation came on the 26th, with 1.15 inches. The total was 1.26. Snowfall was so slight as to be immeasurable, but January's contribution in that department was lying around everywhere to an average depth of 4.5 inches.

Sixteen days were clear, three partly cloudy, and ten cloudy. There were light fogs on the mornings of the 13th and 21st.

On the 26th, Spring left its first calling card with a thunderstorm accompanying the early morning rain. Prevailing winds were northwest with brisk winds on the 4th, 8th and 10th.

The Sanitarium weather bureau answered 1,406 questions, "How cold is it?"

White Hall

White Hall—C. W. Ballard, Carrollton, manager of the Greene County Service Company, Henry Day of Barrow, and Norman Davis of White Hall, directors of the Service Company, accompanied by Otto Wilson of Jerseyville, manager of the Jersey County Service Company, and Mr. Powell of Jerseyville, attended a two day meeting of managers, presidents and directors of Service company officials held in Champaign Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. This was a state wide meeting for Farm Supply companies, of which there are sixty in the state.

Lightning and thunder on the 26th of February reminds old time weather prophets that there will be frost on the 26th of May this year, and that frost that late in the spring is apt to do much damage unless it comes in the light of the moon or that there should be a wind during the night to blow the frost away. There was an 24 inch of rain in White Hall during the night of the 26th, accompanied by lightning and thunder.

Mrs. Ira Winchell of Alton, mother of the late Mrs. Florence Ewart Khan, who died in Tehran, Persia, recently spent Monday here with Mrs. James Ewart, grandmother of Mrs. Khan. Mrs. W. A. Gorge Breaks and Hurls Ice in Auto's Path

This motorist, driving down the highway at Turkeyfoot Rock, 12 miles from Toledo, O., received the surprise of his life when the ice-choked Maumee river suddenly broke loose with a dull roar, spewing huge chunks of ice across the highway. Within a few minutes after this scene was snapped, the highway was deep in water, in another of the floods by which midwest districts have been menaced by river ice gorges.

Court Authorizes Bids For Dunlap

A number of prospective buyers have been visiting in Jacksonville during the past few days inspecting the New Dunlap hotel for the purpose of making bids on the building and equipment. Formal notice of the proposed sale of the hotel is being made today by the receiver, F. E. Farrell. Bids will be received up to March 26 at 10 o'clock a. m.

Notice of the sale is being made pursuant to authority granted by the circuit court of this county, the court reserving the right to reject any or all bids. It is expected several individuals and firms will bid on the hotel a number of buyers from Chicago, St. Louis and other cities having already conducted investigation concerning the purchase of the hotel. It is not known whether there will be any local bidders, but it is understood that a group of business men here have been giving the purchase of the hotel consideration.

The New Dunlap hotel was completed December 1, 1925, at an approximate cost of $450,000. It was built as a community enterprise many local residents purchasing stock to make its construction possible. M. F. Dunlap, former president of the Ayers National bank, was a large stockholder and was president of the hotel corporation, the hotel going under receivership following the collapse of the Ayers National bank here.

WILLIAMS ORDER OF EXPULSION STANDS

Boston.—(AP)—The name of Roger Williams, now centuries dead, must bear the stigma of his expulsion from Massachusetts a little longer.

Gov. James M. Curley announced he will delay until May signing a bill formally revoking the sentence of expulsion passed by the Massachusetts Bay colony 300 years ago. The occasion then will be the governor's participation with Rhode Island in observing the tercentenary of the founding of the state by Williams.

'River, Stay 'Way From My Door!'

No time to play 'possum when you're a flood refugee. Marooned on a bit of high ground, watching the swollen, ice-strewn river that drove him from his home, this disconsolate opossum is a reminder that wild life, too, suffers when streams go on a rampage. This snapshot was taken on the shore of the Olentangy river, near Columbus, O., just beyond its banks like hundreds of other streams throughout the country by the sudden thaw.

Crop Situation in Europe Unfavorable

By John P. Boughan
Associated Press Market Editor
Chicago.—(AP)—Wheat trade interest is chiefly centering at present on the drought conditions southwest and west, simultaneous with the most unfavorable European crop situation in several years.

Resulting uplifts of wheat values are further explained by estimates that Australia's exportable wheat surplus has now been reduced to nearly 6,000,000 bushels below the total at this time last year.

In addition, trade predictions are current that absence of heavier shipments from Argentina will soon become more of a factor in foreign markets, and thus indirectly help to stiffen domestic prices.

Compared to a week ago, wheat this morning showed 11-24 cents a bushel rise, with corn 1-4 down, oats 1-6 off to 1-4, and provisions at gains of 10 to 25 cents.

Corn and oats markets are drags owing largely to fear of a heavy run of low-grade corn.

Upturns of hog prices give firmness to provisions.

CRUISE TO NOWHERE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JANE WESTON feels her dreams have come true when she sets out on a "three weeks' ocean cruise," accepted in payment for the salary due her when the magazine for which she worked as triplet suspended publication.

On board the ship, she meets handsome DIRK STROH, expert ski jumper, as penitence as Jane. The trip was a gift to him from the parents of a child whose life he saved.

Dirk introduces Jane to his friend, SNOWSHOES, a detective. Others on board are: NORA LANE, famous actress and owner of the Kokinor diamond; wealthy, eccentric MADAME DOREMUS, DUTCH LENZ and MANNIE JACKSON, blackmailers; TINO ROSSI, opera singer; KEN WALTIN and LINDA BAYES, floor show entertainers.

Dirk and Jane spend much of their time together. Then a misunderstanding comes between them. Dirk meets Nora Lane and is attentive to her. Tino Rossi becomes Jane's constant escort.

Snowshoes persuades Nora Lane to turn the Kokinor diamond over to him. They go to her stateroom to get it and find Madam Jackson, dead from a bullet, on the floor. The diamond is missing.

Snowshoes takes charge of the investigation. He asks who had keys to the room. The pursuer turns to Dirk and says, "You have one."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVI

DIRK flushed, put his hand in his pocket and drew out a key. He handed it to the detective. "I forgot to turn it in," he said.

"Look here," the pursuer began, "this young man has a lot to explain. He had a fight with Madam Jackson and he had a key to this suite."

Nora Lane said, "But that's ridiculous. He was with me all evening."

The room was silent. Suddenly Tino Rossi laughed and Jane turned to him.

"That's how much human testimony is worth," Tino said. "Miss Lane, you say Dirk was with you all evening, but I saw him on the promenade deck at 11 o'clock, just about the time of the murder. I was with Miss Weston and we were on our way back to the bar. I saw him standing against the rail and a second later he lit a cigarette. I could see his face plainly. I'm not saying this to make trouble, you understand. I'm Dirk's friend. As a matter of fact, anybody with a hairpin could have entered the stateroom. You don't expect a key to solve the murder. The pursuer has a pass key in his office. There are pass keys around all over the ship."

The detective said, "The man who came into this suite didn't need a key. The trunk was unlocked as easily as the door."

The doctor went away with Nora Lane to give her a sleeping powder. Dutch Lenz, after submitting to a search of his person, went to his room which had been gone over thoroughly. The jewel had not been found. Ken and Linda went back to the bar, leaving Dirk with Jane and Tino Rossi.

Snowshoes looked at the pursuer and said, "As a ship's officer, you'll have to question Dirk Stroh. He's a friend of mine. I've known him a long time."

The pursuer looked at Dirk. "What time did you leave the ballroom?" he asked.

"I don't remember exactly. It was around 11 o'clock. My leg had gone to sleep and I came out to walk up and down the deck. I must have been there 20 minutes. It was the sun deck. I didn't come on Deck A."

The pursuer faced Tino Rossi. "You saw him on the sun deck?" Tino smiled. "Yes."

coup at dawn Wednesday, attacked Liberal elder statesmen and seized government centers, finally yielded their positions after the Loyal troops tumbled tanks into place and launched an advance.

Premier Okada, officially listed as one of four victims of the assassins' swords and guns, reassumed the premiership, having eluded the killers who invaded his official residence Wednesday and slew his brother-in-law, who bore a close resemblance to Okada.

The United States embassy announced a checkup of the American community showed no Americans were harmed or molested seriously, despite the abnormal conditions which gripped the capital for four days.

Reports that some or all of the Rebel officers had committed hari-kari were not confirmed. Other reports said that Imperial Commissioner had been granted when insurgent officers, unable to obey the emperor's command, had asked permission to kill themselves.

During the morning operations the United States embassy was protected by a military guard estimated at 80 men armed with machine guns with strong barricades of sandbags and logs defending all approaches.

The only excitement in the neighborhood, however, was when nine Rebels surrendered at a Loyalist barricade in front of the embassy and were seized with their rifles. Members of the embassy staff watched the proceedings from the roof with field glasses.

All the 1,000 Rebels surrendered or were captured, the headquarters of the martial law administration announced, after Lieut. Gen. Kohei Kashi's command advanced on the Rebel positions in the center of the capital, and machine gun firing was heard.

As far as could be determined immediately, however, the suppression was accomplished without bloodshed, the insurgents in groups of from 10 to 150 surrendering at various points as the government troops closed in on them.

The announcement that Premier Okada was found alive came officially from the Japanese cabinet.

Mr. Glenn made a fine record in the United States senate during his six year term and was considered a very capable representative in the upper branch of congress.

Seventh. Opposition to the cancellation of the War Debts owing to the United States.

I shall stand for:

First. Sound money and a stable fiscal policy.

Second. Tariff protection for industry, labor and agriculture, but against excessive schedules favoring monopolies, and permitting extortionate prices to consumers.

Third. Severe reduction in Federal expenditures.

Fourth. Unemployment Insurance and Old Age Pensions.

B. Opposition to irrigation, drainage and other reclamation projects which will add to the already too great farm acreage.

C. For lower taxes on farm lands.

N. B.—Further methods of aiding agriculture will be dealt with during the campaign.

Sixth. Freedom of the Press, and against the intimidation of the citizens by any political administration.

Seventh. Placing the administration of relief activities in charge of the local communities where the needy reside.

Marionettes To Give Play Here

"The Tinder Box" To Be Presented Thursday At Local High School

"The Tinder Box" will be presented by the Rufus Rose Marionettes on Thursday afternoon at the high school auditorium, in a matinee performance at 2:30 sponsored by the Junior High School Parent-teacher association.

It is adapted from Hans Christian Andersen's delightful fairy tale, arranged in three acts, each one bringing its thrills to the audience. "Scrooge" will be given in the evening at 7:45 with a cast of 15 characters. There are three acts, adapted from Charles Dickens's Christmas Carol, for Marionettes.

The Marionette Carnival includes: Mistress Mary and Ballet—in which we learn how Mistress Mary tends her garden. One of the most remarkable innovations ever offered in marionette production.

The Circus—with Ringmaster presiding.

Togo—The World's Most Famous Puppet in pantomime.

The Flying Cordobas—renowned trapeze artists just arrived from Europe.

Oscar—the trained Seal.

Takahando and Jumpaponi—Japanese acrobats who have performed before the Emperor.

A Menagerie—animals from all over the world.

Sambo—the popular master of ceremonies.

There is much discussion about the use of the word "puppet" and the word "marionette." Here is a simple explanation by Rufus Rose—

The word "puppet" is an all inclusive one and covers not only marionettes, but hand-puppets, Punch and Judy types, Shadow Figures, etc. The word "marionette" is applied only to those figures which are operated by strings from above.

The word "marionette" originated during the Middle Ages. Animated figures were used in the churches to dramatize Bible stories, etc. The children and the peasants of Italy and France especially called the figures "marionettes" or "little Mary's" since Mary was a principal figure in all the plays.

Marionettes must have been used at an early time in India because we find the Hindu word for stage-hand meaning "holding the strings."

Simple marionettes have nine strings, the more complicated as many as twenty and where groups of figures are operated at the same time as many as fifty strings are working at once.

Use Care In Auto Operation To Stop Life, Money Losses

National Safety Council Finds Inattention Is Greatest Fault

"Inattention" is the first of four great causes of automobile accidents, according to the National Safety Council, an organization promoting safety on the streets and highways of the nation. Therefore, the Journal and Courier makes as its first recommendation in its campaign to reduce traffic accidents, greater attention to the task of driving an automobile.

Automobiles have become to be recognized as a greater death machine than machine guns and disease. Last year on United States highways alone over 36,000 people lost their lives in automobile accidents. As high as 98 percent of these lives could have been saved if due precautions had been taken, it has been estimated.

There is no place at the wheel of any automobile for a day-dreamer, a scenery watcher, a driver who talks too much, or the fellow whose mind runs around in circles. Momentary lapses in watchfulness have been fatal and will continue to be fatal.

Use of automobiles has increased by leaps and bounds. Seldom is it possible to drive for more than a mile without passing another automobile going in the opposite direction. More often automobiles move past in greater numbers. That means constant attention is necessary to avoid getting off your side of the road at the wrong time, failing to observe approaching trucks and automobiles who are not paying close attention to the matter in hand.

The right-of-way is a good prop to lean on if a case gets to a jury, but the right way often is less expensive. Cemeteries are well populated with persons who thought they had the right of way, and perhaps they did have it, but the right of way is no good to a person in a grave yard. It is the inattention of the driver who causes the person who has the right-of-way to become embroiled in an accident. Even if you do have the right-of-way be on your guard for the driver of another machine, or a pedestrian who doesn't have it but whose life is just as valuable to him as yours is to you.

Dr. Hazel Kyrk, Economist, Speaks At A. A. U. W. Meet

Consumer's Policy Discussed At Saturday Meeting
In City

Dr. Hazel Kyrk, associate professor of Home Economics and Economics at the University of Chicago, was guest speaker at the meeting of the Jacksonville branch of the American Association of University Women in Baxter Hall Saturday.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Education Committee of which Mrs. John Agger is chairman.

Miss Charlotte Ryan, president of the Branch, welcomed guests and presented Mrs. C. C. Jacinth, chairman of the Fellowship Committee, who with the assistance of her committee described the work of her division. After announcements, Miss Ryan presented the speaker of the afternoon.

The subject discussed was The Consumer's Stake in Public Policy. Dr. Kyrk used as a base for her discussion Adam Smith's Wealth of Nations quoting: "Consumption is the sole end and purpose of production. The interest of the producer should be concerned only in so far as is necessary for promoting the interest of the consumer."

Dr. Kyrk makes no attempt to deny this principle, but she hastens to point out that it does need qualifications. She says this principle is valid as long as it does not interfere with social values which are deemed just as important as cheapness and abundance. Has this principle guided general no because although everywhere is a consumer, he is also a producer or has some interest as consumers are distinct from interest as producers. As a society we do not take an active interest unless our income is threatened.

"We value our economic problems by placing ourselves or our occupational group in more strategic position of bargaining. These economic groups are ordinarily fixed by common interests. We do not have consumer groups because interest as common buyers is not strong enough to hold together in projects."

"In stimulating producer's interest we stimulate interest of the consumers. These interests coincide only in certain conditions. These are conditions of true competition. This conflict is our problem."

Dr. Kyrk concluded by saying that the situation is not hopeless. It can be met by facing reality intellectually and emotionally.

Following the program, the members and guests remained for tea with Miss Charlotte Ryan and Mrs. John Agger pouring. Chairman of the hostesses for the afternoon was Mrs. R. H. Lacey.

Brooks To Speak In City March 11

Make Change In Date For Appearance Here; Approves
Bill For Registration

C. Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for the nomination for governor, will speak in Jacksonville on the evening of Wednesday, March 11, instead of March 10, as previously announced. He will speak at Pittsfield on the afternoon of March 11 and will deliver an address at the high school here at 8 o'clock p.m.

The meeting here will be a six county meeting with voters from Jersey, Greene, Morgan, Cass, Mason and Menard counties being invited. The other four counties of the 20th congressional district Calhoun, Scott, Pike and Brown, will participate in the Pittsfield meeting.

In a statement issued yesterday at Chicago Brooks spoke in support of the permanent registration bills for Cook county, which have been passed by the House in the Illinois Assembly and which will be voted upon this week by the senate.

Brooks statement concerning the bills was as follows:

"The state senate is now considering and this week will vote on the Schnackenburg - Hubbard - Brands permanent registration bills for Cook county. These bills, if enacted into law will compel permanent registration of all voters in Chicago and Cook county and will guarantee an honest election for Cook county in November."

"This law should be passed. The question is the most important before the people of the state of Illinois today. Elections in Cook county during the past four years have been a disgrace and a sham."

"Permanent registration will: 1—Restore to the voter the control of elections. 2—Give Chicago and Cook county honest elections. 3—Make certain a Republican victory at the November elections. 4—Smash the Nash-Kelly political machine control. 5—Deal a death blow to all boss control of politics."

"Permanent registration may even determine the election of the next President of the United States."

"Every liberty loving citizen should take advantage of this opportunity to urge his state senator to be present and to vote for and work for the passage of this honest election law, which will stop fraudulent voting by floaters and repeaters and guarantee an honest election count."

"The Nash-Kelly combine is vigorously opposing this bill. Keep your eye on the senate this week. Watch to see who fails to vote in favor of this bill unchanged and those who are absent or who do not respond to roll call and then you will be able to judge for yourself who is lined up with and giving aid to the Nash-Kelly machine."

The newspapers of this country have done more in their publicity on safety than any other one thing that has been undertaken; and should be commended by the public for their wonderful co-operation.

If the Jacksonville Automobile Club can be of any assistance to you in helping make this safety campaign a success, please feel free to call on us.

Yours very truly,
T. M. TOMLINSON,
President.
